This is the only screen where the user can see the podcast details and its episodes. When the user clicks the upper part (for the podcast details) it will expand to show all the content. When the user clicks the bottom part, the upper part will collapse so less details is shown and more episodes are displayed. Worth noting:

1) Though this page has its navbar and context menu, it is NOT navigatable from the nav menu. It can only be accessed by clicking on a channel (from the Subscription page).
